Shop And Home Economics Work Displayed

Mothers, a few fathers, and other interested people of the town to the number of several hundred visited the High School last Friday afternoon to view the display of the shop work and home economics classes of the school which has been done during the past year. Everyone who visited the display were high in their praise of the excellence of the work, and of the common sense idea back of this sort of teaching which will bring out the natural bent of the child and give him or her an opportunity to express their individuality.

In addition to the display sewing of the girls, the visitors sampled their ability as cooks and entertainers in the splendid cookies and punch that were made and served by the girls themselves under the direction of their teacher. Miss Niddrie is the teacher of Home Economics and Gerald J. Gibb is instructor in the Manual Arts department of the school.

RAYMOND TRIMS CARDSTON

Raymond came out ahead with a 6-5 score in the league game Wednesday afternoon after a thrilling encounter all the way through. Going into the ninth with the score tied, Fred Turner got on and Frank Weaver got hold of a two-bagger that scored Turner to win the game for the Sugar City crew. Played in a high wind and a doubtfully kept away from what cold night, many fans were turned out to be a real thriller as far as baseball games go.

Unable to locate the score book we will have to present a summary of the game.

Cardston—Hits 8; Runs 5; Errors 4. 2 base hits K. Leavitt in the eighth, 3 base hits A. Allred in the 4th. Allred struck out 4 men and Leavitt none. Battery for Cardston Allred, Leavitt and Layton.

Raymond—Hits 12; Runs 6; Errors 4. 2 base hits, A stone in the 3rd, Harris Walker in the 8th and Frank Weaver in the 9th. Struck out by Nielson 6. Battery Nielson and Weaver.

Next Wednesday the local nine journey to Stirling for a league game.

Boy Scouts Off On Trip To Utah

Accompanied down Broadway Monday morning with the fire wagon with the siren going full blast, 27 King Scouts from the Taylor and Ethbridge Stakes left in the truck of Robt. Salmon, assistant Stake Scout Commissioner, for Salt Lake City and the June Convention of M. I. A. where Scouting will hold a high place as this is the 25 anniversary of Scouting in the L.D. S Church. Charles S. Matkin of Magrath, District Commissioner had the group in charge.

The truck was filled with anxious, eager and elated boys, who are off on a trip they will always remember, and the roof of the truck was piled high with bedding to make room for the food and the passengers. The plan calls for one day in the

Primary Festival Held Last Friday

The First Ward Primary staged its Spring Festival at the Opera House last Friday afternoon when the children in their gay costumes presented a gay spectacle indeed. Directed by Mesdames Valeria Allen, Norma Wood, Mae Kitchen, Gladys Layne, Verda Fawns and Viola Meeks, the boys and girls presented their various parts in a pleasing and satisfactory manner.

"The Queen of Spring" was the name of the presentation and the following had the leading characters with Miss Theodora Redd as reader, "Apollo" taken by Sammy Tollestrup; "Persephone" the Queen of Spring, Eleanor Elbert; "Queen of May" Hazel Taylor; and Flower Girls, Crocuses, Frogs, Crickets Bunnies, Butterflies, etc., all helped in the cast.

Each Primary group wound the Maypole and after the entertainment ice cream was sold by the Primary Officers.

NEWS NOTES

Mr. Ross, district supervisor of the Calgary Power Co., Ltd., was in Raymond last Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Hansen are the proud parents of a baby boy-born last Friday.

Light frost nipped beans and tomatoes in some parts of the town Monday night. The same vegetation however, in other sections escaped unharmed.

Tom Taylor is having a nice entrance built to the front of his residence in the north end of town. Archie Terry is doing the carpenter work.

One blessing of the cold, wet weather is the fact that it certainly keeps the pests in check. Gophers and rabbits are about the only things that have bothered this year so far.

ENJOYABLE BUDGET PARTY AT STAKE HOUSE

People of Raymond were given a real treat at the Budget Party of the Raymond 1st Ward held in the Stake House Friday night of last week. A. H. Zabriskie was Chairman of the program and the following numbers were given:

Organ Solos, "The Lord Chord," and "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise," by Roi Stone.

Mrs. Becker was heard in the following numbers: "Humoresque," "Mabel's Wedding," "Self Dependence" and a short number or two.

Vocal Solos by Jos. McLean, "Thy Sentinel," and "Lassie O' Mine."

Piano numbers by Miss Phillips, and a couple of numbers by F. R. Taylor and his Male Quartette rounded out a very enjoyable program.

NEWS NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Kimball Anderson of Tyrell's Lake were business visitors here Tuesday.

Fromm's sold a new Leonard Refrigerator to Warren L. Jones the end of last week.

Jack Housley has the new addition to his house all stuccoed now and the home presents a very fine appearance.

Messrs Brundsen and Mackenzie of the Unity League are in town today meeting with some of the citizens of the town and district.

Mrs. J. Pyne of Warner, spent a day or two this week with her son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Erickson and family.

Effective last Monday, Motorists had to pay the Provincial Government of Quebec a 5 per cent. tax on all beer and alcoholic liquor purchased in clubs and restaurants.

Stewart Robinson, had his foot cut and smashed in the press drill on the farm last week. The injury is not so very serious but he has been on crutches since it happened.

Mrs. Harding Brewerton with Gary and Joy returned Thursday from an extended visit with relatives and friends in Utah. Is Harding a happy man? and how. Miss Joy will visit here for one month and then return to her work in Salt Lake.

Lorne Hancock was a Raymond visitor over the week-end with friends and relatives. Lorne is working in Vulcan at present and had just started a new home he had contracted when he came down with his brother Alma for a day or two visiting.

If the proper co-operation can be had between the building industry, officials of bank and the public at large, a housing scheme introduced into the Federal House by Finance Minister Chas. Dunning will make available nearly $100,000,000 in loans at low interest for new homes and apartment houses across Canada. What a boon this would be and how it would tend to ease the unemployment.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETING

With L. L. Palmer in the chair and J. W. Evans as acting Secretary, the Board of Trade met in a two hour and a half session Wednesday night to check up on details and progress of the coming Stampede. Everything was found to be coming along alright, and details of the parade were discussed a little farther and a Board of Trade float will be prepared, and J. E. Meeks and R. J. Fannett were asked to arrange for a band for the Parade.

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL MEETING

The Council of the Sugar City met in regular meeting Tuesday afternoon. The mill rate was set for the current year, several relief cases were discussed and the family will be put on the land to make their own way. Road construction was also considered and the coming months program decided on.

A resolution was passed unanimously protesting taxation which might cause the closing of our branch bank as all the members felt it was filling a decided need and rendering a very useful and necessary service.

WELCOME RAIN STORM

A high, dry and very disagreeable wind that howled all day Wednesday, blew itself out during the night, and Thursday morning the sky was overcast, the wind was from the north and some rain had fallen. As the forenoon advanced the clouds thickened and from 10 a. m. until darkness set in the rain was quite steady heavier at some times than others. The rainfall was measured at 1-2 of an inch.

The moisture will be very welcome. Nothing was really suffering, but the heavy growth of grain made farmers rather apprehensive when the ground commenced to get dry. Beets, hay and gardens will also benefit greatly from the soaking.

Bert Nilsson and son Jack and John Powelson left about 10 a.m. Thursday for Fernie, B. C., and most of the party will return Sunday. "Mac" is billing the Pass towns for Raymond's Stampede while he is away.

The Raymond Mercantile had a demonstration of Clark's foods last week and a demonstrator was in attendance to prepare and serve the foods to those desiring samples. A large number of people sampled the products and asked questions of the demonstrator.

LOCAL TRUCK IN WRECK

The Chevrolet truck of S. B. Card and Son was in a wreck at Kipp on Thursday evening on its way from Calgary loaded with gasoline, with Wm. Reber at the wheel.

A Ford V8 was approaching quite rapidly and Bill pulled off to the side of the road as far as he could without tipping over, thinking, of course that the other driver would pull over and share the road. The two cars came together with quite an impact. Luckily no one was seriously injured. One lady passenger received several cuts, a boy had his arm broken and both vehicles were damaged badly, the one side of the truck being nearly taken off.

After the insurance adjusters had viewed the wreck Stewart took part of the load into his other truck and brought it home and a meeting with the adjusters is taking place as we go to press to decide on costs and apportionment of damages.

NEWS NOTES

Mrs. Stan Cook is a patient in St. Michael's hospital for a week or so for special treatment.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Frehlin Dahl on Saturday last at the Hospital, a son. Mrs. Dahl and the new citizen are doing fine and "Fritz" is a very proud father.

Quite a number of Raymond people were in Cardston Sunday for the funeral services of Mrs. C. W. Burt, amongst them being Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Anderson, the Garner families and Bishop Walker and part of the family.

Saskatchewan voters on Wednesday, returned the Liberal Government of Premier Wm. Patterson to power for another term when they elected 36 Liberal candidates out of the 50 candidates elected. Two constituencies are voting later, this month to elect their men.

Mrs. Harding Brewerton with Gary and Joy returned Thursday from an extended visit with relatives and friends in Utah. Is Harding a happy man? and how. Miss Joy will visit here for one month and then return to her work in Salt Lake.

Lorne Hancock was a Raymond visitor over the week-end with friends and relatives. Lorne is working in Vulcan at present and had just started a new home he had contracted when he came down with his brother Alma for a day or two visiting.

NEWS NOTES

The Missionary class of the Raymond 2nd Ward Sunday School spent Wednesday evening at the Stampede grounds enjoying a weiner roast. According to L. L. Palmer of the Bishopric this is a great class of young people who really do things and enjoy themselves in their work and play.

Stampede time is drawing near. With the big midway of the Crescent Canadian Shows and the parade being lined up by Frank Taylor & committee it promises to be one of the biggest days Raymond has ever had. Do your part as a good citizen by being there and inviting your friends to attend.

KILLAM BRANCH CLOSES

The local Bank of Montreal officials received word Thursday night that the Bank of Montreal branch at Killam, Alberta, had been instructed to wind up its business so that the branch could close on June 30th.

This branch has operated for nearly 20 years, having been opened in 1909. Increase in the taxes levied by the Province is making it impossible for these branches to operate and officials are closing them out as the only thing to do.

It is to be hoped that some sort of arrangements may be speedily made so that the public will not lose the benefits of the services that chartered banks have and are rendering to business throughout the Province.

ANOTHER KIDNAP SLAYING

Federal investigators, directed by J. Edgar Hoover chief of the G Men found the body of slain James Bailey Cash, Jr., also the $10,000 the father of the boy had paid for his safe return in the vicinity of Princeton, Fla., not far from Miami, Wednesday night. They have one suspect arrested who has admitted writing the ransom notes but denies having had anything to do with the kidnapping.

Get your big hat and join the parade of Stampede boosters. It is getting Stampede time and everybody in Raymond and district should be boosting this show to make it the biggest and most successful we have ever had. Plan to be here yourself, and invite your friends to Raymond to spend the 1st and 2nd of July with you.

The Committees have been getting things under way during the past two weeks, and the program committee for the Stampede events is the most ambitious ever outlined for our town and in outlining this program the committee certainly showed their faith in the people of Raymond and district and their hope that they would attend.

Every now and then some local citizen swears they will not attend the show because some person or persons are making too much money out of it, and the prices are too high. We should very much like to see some of these people serve on

Our Edmonton Letter

(By T. B. Windross)

Edmonton, June 6.—Saskatchewan's election verdict this week makes history in Western Canada, without doubt—the decision whether that province would become in effect a political colony of Alberta, and incidentally add its tremendous problem of death and relief to Alberta's already sufficient puzzle, or whether Saskatchewan would retain her political independence, and continue to face facts rather than dreams.

And it was left to the voters of Saskatchewan to choose.

Election of a Social Credit majority would mean that Saskatchewan's 100,000 direct and indirect relief recipients tossed their problems into the laps of the people of Alberta and the people who govern Alberta. For obviously the whole Social Credit campaign in that other province was an extension of the political machine of the Edmonton government, in an effort to find out more political power at the expense of Alberta and Saskatchewan taxpayers. And rejection of the Social Credit line, on the sound basis of that government's complete failure in Alberta, would mean that Saskatchewan voters preferred to stand by common sense and retain their independence and their standing in the Dominion of Canada.

As election week opened in Saskatchewan, it seemed sure that a few thousand votes throughout the Province as a whole would prove the balance of power which would elect the governing body for the next five years. On the average, there were three candidates for each of the 52 seats, so a minority popular vote would naturally win. Social Credit's appeal, as uttered and interpreted by the Alberta hierarchy throughout Saskatchewan as the burning question. But even during the closing days of the campaign it was obvious that public resentment of the dictatorial methods of Premier William Aberhart and his political followers, in arbitrarily selecting and rejecting candidates and in telling everybody exactly what to do and say, was rising throughout the province which he was set on capturing.

Resentment of the Aberhart campaign was no less marked in Alberta, though for different reasons. All during the past three weeks the Alberta public has been left to shift for itself as far as the government was concerned, while cabinet ministers have been bustling around a "foreign" province, trying to raise Social Credit votes. Meantime, in Alberta, farmers were left to puzzle with their crop plans; the oil industry had to figure out for itself the result of a reduced production of production in the Turner Valley field, and begin to seek new markets in Great Britain, without provincial government aid; unemployed men in Calgary had to sent five of their number on a tramping trek to Regina to find the $8-per-day members of the Alberta legislature's relief committee, ask them to stop their Saskatchewan campaigning and return to Alberta to look after their job of solving the relief and unemployment situation in this province. When the men got to Regina, they found the Alberta premier avoiding that city, and had to be content with a promise from John Blackmore, Social Credit leader in the house of commons, that he would tell Aberhart about it.

Meantime, with the cabinet minister busily engaged in drumming up votes in Saskatchewan, Alberta tumbled further into the slough of wrecked reputation by defaulting on another bond maturity. It was for $2,000,000 — debentures which were issued in 1908 to finance telephones. It was the fourth major default of a maturity by the province in the past two years, bringing the total up to $8,100,200. To this must be added the $7,000,000 in interest which the provincial government has withheld illegally—declared illegal by court judgments—during the same period, and the $2,000,000 deficit announced during the most recent budget, making a total of $17,100,200 on due payments which Premier Aberhart's administration has failed to make good, apart from $8,000,000 which it has borrowed, since it came into office.

A dozen cities, towns and villages in Alberta added their protests during last week, through municipal councils or Boards of Trade against legislation which confiscates property in the province and menaces the maintenance of banking facilities. In each place resolutions were adopted asking the dominion or provincial governments, or both, to take action which would prevent the ruin of private credit, the capitalization of dishonesty and the loss of bank branches upon which small towns and rural districts depend entirely for the conduct of their business. It was announced, meantime, that the bank branch at Cereal must close at the end of this month, as well as other bank branches which have been forced to close in recent weeks, and although bank officials were silent on the subject it was known widely that great danger of more branches closing was imminent. At the same time it was determined that although banks may close, depositors and clients will suffer nothing more than great inconvenience, since their accounts will simply be transferred to other branches, even outside Alberta, and banking business can be maintained by mail if necessary.

Social credit claims that ninety per cent of the people are supporting the government were confounded during the week, when a largely attended meeting in High River, Premier Aberhart's own constituency—passed a unanimous resolution declaring the government should resign. The resolution stated: "This will give evidence to the people of Saskatchewan and elsewhere that even the electors in the premier's own constituency are opposed to him and his legislation. It charged the government with failure "to implement its election promises and reduce taxation" and with being "inefficient, and incapable of administering the affairs of the province."

Of interest to this province, where the government has been talking and legislating against banks for the past two years to cover up the complete failure of its election promises, was the editorial comment made the other day by the Ottawa Citizen, which has had strong Social Credit leanings, since long before Premier Aberhart was elected in Alberta, and which has an editor who still is regarded as Major Douglas' chief spokesman in Canada. The newspaper editor supported Premier Aberhart in condemning Finance Minister Dunning for challenging Alberta to establish a provincial bank, and said that Mr. Dunning "is apparently unaware that the chartered banks in Canada, without the sanction of the central bank of Canada, have no power to experiment with Social Credit; they are performing an essential public service as commercial banks; they are as well administered as the people of Canada or of any other country could desire, but the control of credit power is vested with the Bank of Canada." And after declaring that Major Douglas never proposed that the state should compete with private banking, the editor continued: "Only lack of understanding of the limitations (by law) of the chartered banks in Canada could have prompted Mr. Dunning to have proposed that Alberta should set up another chartered bank in the belief that it would have the power to experiment with Social Credit."

What is Canada's Greatest Co-operative Business?

Answer.—Life Insurance—in which more than 3,500,000 Canadians are united for mutual protection.

Question.—Then, about one out of every three Canadians owns Life Insurance?

Answer.—Yes, and more than half the population of our country benefits directly from Life Insurance.

Q.—How?

A.—Because Life Insurance savings not only protect policyholders but also guarantee financial security to the women and children who are their dependants.

Q.—How much money does Life Insurance pay out each year?

A.—Approximately $150,000,000—or, at the average rate of Half-a-Million Dollars every working day.

Q.—How does Life Insurance invest the millions of dollars of policyholders' savings?

A.—In many worth-while enterprises for the benefit of all Canadian people.

Q.—What are the principal investments?

A.—Government bonds—municipal debentures—first mortgages on homes and farms—and other investments authorized by law.

Q.—How do these Life Insurance investments benefit Canada?

A.—They help to build homes, schools and good roads—improve farm property—extend transportation systems—finance industries—and construct local improvements.

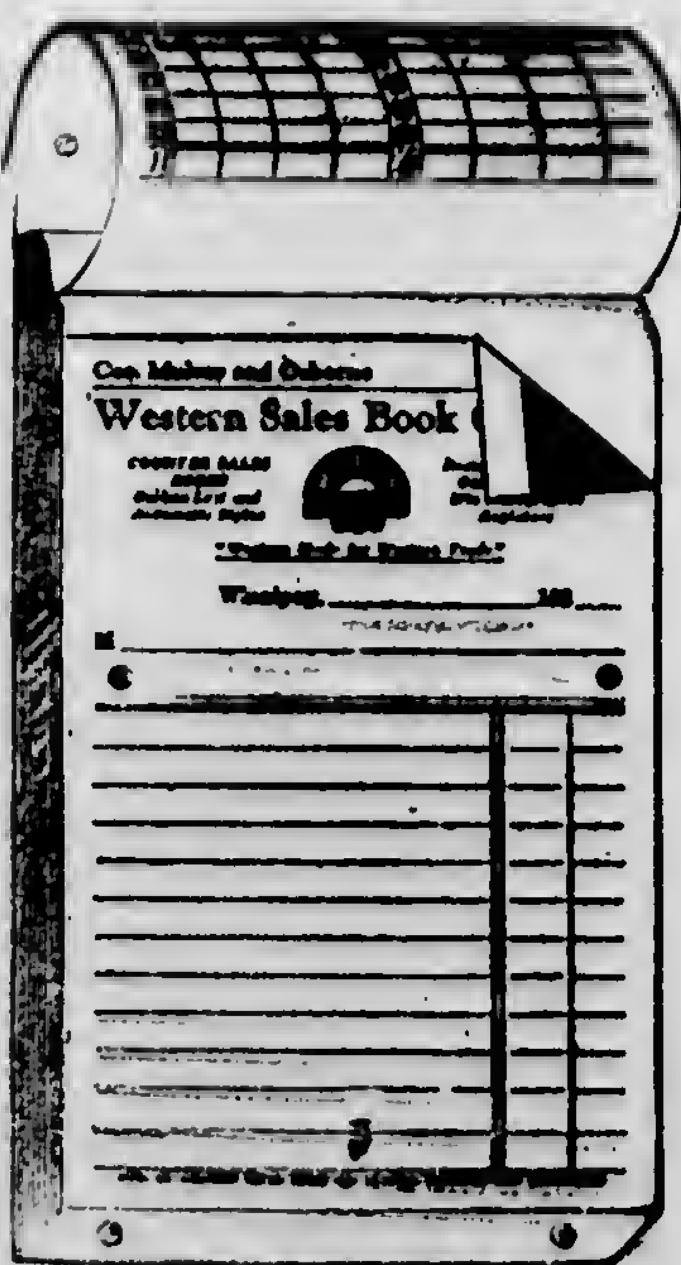

This is the eighth of a series of messages sponsored by Life Insurance Companies operating in Canada. The ninth, to appear in two weeks' time, will discuss why Life Insurance is so safe.

Instalment Twenty-six

Monty Wallace has just arrived in California, having broken the East-West cross country airplane record. Natalie Wade, mis taken by him for a newspaper reporter, writes the exclusive account of Monty's arrival, and succeeds in securing a trial job with a paper in exchange for the story. Natalie becomes attached to Monty.

Although she discovers Monty's love for her is not sincere, Natalie admits that she loves him. She is assigned by her paper to report Monty's activities for publication. Jimmy Hale, the newspaper's photographer, becomes Natalie's co-worker.

Natalie interviews Jabe Marion, a wealthy airplane builder, who decides to build a record-breaking 'round the world' plane for Monty. Marion's daughter, Sunny, exquisitely beautiful, is attracted to Monty. She invites Natalie to dine with her, when they meet the aviator unexpectedly.

Natalie discovers that Sunny is jealous of her friendship with Monty, and that she is trying to prevent them from being alone. After driving to a mountain resort with Sunny and Jimmy, Monty again declares his love for Natalie.

Sunny attempts to drive Natalie from Monty's attention by climbing a high wall. She almost loses her balance and is pulled back by Monty. Jimmy later asks Natalie to consider his love for her if she refuses Monty.

Natalie induces Monty to set out with her in an airplane search for two missing aviators. At dusk Monty lands the plane in the open country, where he and Natalie must spend the night.

Resuming the search in the morning, they finally locate the fliers. Natalie wires the story to her paper. That night at dinner, Marion announces a non-stop 'round the world' flight, with Monty piloting the new plane, 'Sunny Marion.'

Monty's plan is to have ten re-fuelling stations along the route, where pilots are to go aloft to refuel his plane. Monty flies with Natalie to New York, where he will begin the flight eastward. They are followed by Jimmy and Sunny.

The day before the flight, Monty once more declares his love to Natalie.

In spite of adverse weather reports, Monty takes off. Natalie returns by plane to California where she hears that Monty has reached Moscow, and is continuing on to Siberia.

ed, solemnly

"Gee!—and me wearin' this pair of brass knuckles all the way from the station!" was the disgusted reply.

As he walked to the door, Monty turned to Natalie.

"Call the Mayor in a couple of hours. That'll give me a little time to relax—and we still won't be late for the party."

"You're on, Monty!" Natalie called back watching the foursome disappear into an elevator. She Natalie listened intently as she faced Monty.

"You're wanted for assault and battery and you're comin' it us, see?" a taller limb of the law explained, none too gently.

"Assault and battery?" Monty asked dazed. "Who ever said I assaulted her—even though I can't deny I thought of it!"

"Who's talkin' about a dame!" the stubby one protested.

"All I want to know is did youse, or did youse not, sock a coupla guys at the airport this mornin'?"

The room burst into a roar of laughter. Monty stepped to the side of the spokesman of the law.

"All right, boys, let's go."

"You mean—you ain't gonna put up a fight?" one of them asked, incredulously.

"Nary a fight!" Monty assured, solemnly.

"Nary a fight!" Monty assured, turned. Her eyes fell on the strangely silent "Mrs. Wallace." "Are you going to stand by and see him get away like that?" Natalie asked the woman.

"Why not," was the offhand answer. "He'll be safe there, and when he steps out of the cell, I'll be waiting to put him right back in!"

Natalie turned to Sunny and Jimmy. She knew not what to think. Evidently Monty's sudden adventure with the police would not provide any permanent escape from the designs of the woman who stood as her accuser.

Quickly taking leave of the three, Natalie jumped into her car, bent on seeing Mack Hamilton. Only a few hours had passed since she had talked with Mack about Monty's preparations for landing. So much had happened. She sped along, refreshed by a cooling breeze. It was yet early afternoon. And in more ways than one the day had scarcely begun.

Meanwhile, back at Natalie's apartment, a different scene was taking place. Jimmy was not long in following Natalie, believing his greatest help in the situation would be rendered in the field, as it were. Sunny saw him go. She returned to the room where Vivian Morgan was casually thumbing through the leaves of a magazine.

Without looking around, the throaty voice of the woman addressed Sunny:

"I'll never forget your face when I walked in this room," the woman began. "You really didn't think I'd come, did you?"

"Of course not, you fool," was Sunny's angry retort.

"I told you that I needed money, and I still do."

"And you think you can get it out of me?" inquired Sunny, viciously.

The woman had turned by this time. She seated herself and proceeded to light a cigarette, proffering the pack to Sunny. Sunny made no move and the pack was withdrawn with a shrug. The woman continued:

"My dear, you are going to help me. Let us understand each other. Let us be frank. We have let us say—some experiences in common, have we not? And this young aviator, who I must admit is quite handsome, works for your father. I know you have nothing, so I'm willing to make a bargain. Help me touch your young aviator friend for a few thousand and we'll call our own little deal square. And if you don't—"

Sunny broke in: "If I don't you'll drag this scandal into the papers and ruin not only Monty, but my father as well!"

"Not so fast," cautioned the other "It's easy to see you've never handled these things before. But you'll learn—I hope."

"What do you mean?" Sunny's tone betrayed a growing fear.

"I'll simply go to your father. Of course, he'll see my point and admit it—in cash."

Sunny was furious, yet she knew that an angry display would do no good. Her mood changed to one of remorse. She almost sobbed.

"Oh, why did I ever go to New York. Why did I—?" Her voice trailed off into a bitter wail. The other woman was unmoved.

"Don't be a kid. I know you couldn't help what you did. You were just a sightseer, making the rounds, slumming with a gang of gay Park Avenue swells. You weren't like me, you didn't belong there. But now you're in it as much as I am as far as the public would care!"

Sunny knew only too well the truth in these words. Yet what irony to have her persecutor audaciously avow her innocence. Could there be no escape? Must her own hurt be multiplied by hurting others?

COOLING MILK AND CREAM ON THE FARM

Milk as it leaves the udder of a healthy cow normally contains very few bacteria, but bacteria multiply rapidly in warm milk and soon cause souring or other undesirable fermentation. No matter how healthy the cow, how clean the utensils or how sanitary the methods employed around the dairy or milk house, milk will soon deteriorate in soiled. Rapid and thorough cooling, if it is not effectively of both cream and milk is essential for best results. Whole milk should be cooled immediately after milking and cream as soon as possible after it is separated. The temperature being lowered rapidly and kept low enough to check bacterial growth. Bacterial growth is slowed down considerably when the temperature is kept below 50° F.

To rapidly lower the temperature of milk to a point between 40° and 50° F., it is almost necessary to use ice. Mechanical refrigeration may be used, but as this is not often available, ice is the best cooling agent for lowering the temperature of milk to the required point. However, to be efficient, ice must be used in conjunction with water and not with air. Cold air has a much lower cooling efficiency than water of the same temperature so whole milk or cream will be gradually cooled under cold air conditions cold or ice water will milk more rapidly and thereby lower the temperature of the improve its keeping qualities.

The use of ice-cold water or water with ice in it as a cooling agent is most satisfactory. When the utensil containing the milk or cream is placed in a tank of ice and water, the temperature is lowered rapidly and maintained at a low enough point to retard bacterial growth and fermentation. The size of the tank or vat to be used will depend upon the amount of milk or cream to be cooled. Approximately four gallons of water with four pounds of ice added for each gallon of milk or cream to be cooled is considered to be adequate. Frequent stirring of both the milk and the cooling liquid during the cooling period will increase the rate of cooling and so prove beneficial. Care should always be taken not to mix warm milk or cream with that which has already been cooled.

Cleanliness is essential in the production of milk and cream, but rapid and thorough cooling, which may be secured by the use of such cooling agents as ice and water is a most important factor in maintaining the quality.

SEARLE PRECIPITATION REPORT NO. 1

Taking into account the precipitation that occurred last fall in the months of August, September and October, and the rains that have fallen this year from the 1st of April to May 27th, and weighting for wheat acreage, the moisture condition of Alberta on May 27th was 100 p.c. of the normal as compared with 104 for the previous week; for Saskatchewan it was 95 p.c. as compared with 86, and for Manitoba it was 88 p.c. as compared with 91 for the previous week.

Taking the three Prairie Provinces as a unit, the weighted average on May 27th was 96 p.c. of the normal as compared with 92 at the same time last week and 74 p.c. at the same time last year.

Lowell Duncombe was operated upon for appendicitis on Saturday by Dr. Madill. We are pleased to report that Lowell is progressing as well as could be expected and will soon be home again.

NEWS NOTES

Jim Meeks is driving a shiny new Chevrolet coach, finished in a nice green. He traded the old Studebaker in on the deal.

Jim Meeks was in Calgary last week to a stock growers meeting. They had a very successful convention and passed a strong resolution of protest against the 7 p.c. production tax.

Clarke Lund was a Raymond visitor Monday, having arrived home from his Australian trip Saturday night. He reports a very enjoyable trip and says out of the four trophies presented at the show the Canadian team captured three of them which he felt was pretty good going.

A. E. Hancock was home from his inspection work in the centre of the Province for the week-end and returned again Tuesday. While at home he and his wife spent the day in Waterton and Glacier Park, and Mrs. C. E. Hancock spent the day with her son and daughter-in-law in Mountain View.

WHY DOES ANYBODY BORROW FROM A BANK?

WHY does anybody borrow money?

Here is the answer: Usually to make a profit or to use the money for his advantage.

Be the borrower a farmer, marketing organization, lumberman, miner, fisherman, rancher, manufacturer—none ever borrows from a bank and pays interest except to gain a benefit outweighing the interest charges.

Every Canadian dollar represents tangible wealth already produced, or wages paid for services rendered.

Every Canadian dollar issued can be described accurately as to purpose, as a wealth-producing, wage-paying, profit-seeking dollar.

Occasionally some borrowed dollars become temporarily deadweight debt—perhaps you suffer a loss for a season through drought or other natural calamity. But with a better season, better prices and brighter business, the loser has a chance to recover his losses.

"I borrow $1,000 from the bank, paying interest because the bank is rendering me a service," one man instances. He goes on thus:

"Why do I borrow the $1,000? "To use in a business deal and make a profit."

"My deal concluded successfully, I repay the bank and have a profit of say $100, which I put to my credit in the bank."

"The bank has back its $1,000 and interest, and I have $100 I didn't have before."

"Multiply that borrowing of mine, my use of the money, my repayment and my profit, by many borrowers, day after day, and you see what is happening as a continuous revolving process throughout the year in the business world."

A farmer borrows for seed, cultivation or harvesting; a fisherman borrows for bait, boat or wages; a manufacturer borrows against raw materials being fabricated, to pay wages to finish and market his goods—but none of these borrows except in the hope of profit to himself, in supplying the needs of others.

Banking is not mysterious.

A farmer's co-operative marketing organization uses bank credit so that the farmer may get cash for his crop at the elevator without waiting for it to reach Liverpool.

A merchant borrows from the bank and is enabled to pay his bills early, take advantage of discounts, and pass part of his saving on to his customers.

A small farmer with 20 hogs borrowed $50 for feed, paid $1.75 interest and was enabled to sell his hogs for $100 more than he would have got on an earlier market. His net profit was $48.75. That is an authentic case. Here is another:

A hog-raiser on a large scale paid $100 interest on a loan for feed. He writes us that he made a net profit of nearly $2,000.

These are instances of the kind of services bank credit, exchanged for individual credit, performs as an everyday routine, in Canada. Any community can supply scores of similar examples.

What is money?

Coinage, Bank of Canada notes, bank notes, deposits.

Chartered banks now issue their notes up to a legal limit of 85 per cent of their paid-up capital. Yearly this is being reduced and the right of note-issue as steadily vested in the Bank of Canada.

A chartered bank's notes are the first charge on its assets. In case of trouble they must be paid off before a single cent can be paid on deposits or on any other debts owed by the bank. To make doubly sure that notes will be redeemed, each bank pays into a fund held by the Minister of Finance, an amount of cash equal to five per cent of the average of its bank notes outstanding. This is called the "Bank Circulation Redemption Fund." The total of this fund is available for the purpose of redeeming the outstanding notes of any bank.

Notes of the Bank of Canada are money—legal tender—cash—that Bank's notes and deposits are backed (April 30, 1938) by 53.37 per cent of gold and silver bullion and foreign exchange.

Notes of the chartered banks, too, are money—their promises to pay; every dollar backed by more than twenty dollars of assets. They are redeemable, on demand, in cash.

Your deposit in a chartered bank also is money—you can buy things with it. It arose from your labour, production and thrift. It is redeemable in cash. It is the measure of your real wealth. You may make payments by cheque upon it. When your cheque goes through the Clearing House system, it must be met by the bank on which it is drawn. Any balances as between banks have to be settled in cash daily.

Your Canadian dollars are useful factors in a system that produces wealth for all of Canada.

Art Hertzberg of near Edmonton drowned in a boating accident Sunday while three men in a canoe less than 100 yards away refused to lend any assistance at all. With three others in a canoe, Hertzberg was plunged into the water, and he drowned while his three companions struggled to shore. Calling to the men in the other boat to help, these men merely turned their canoe and rowed away from the scene of the accident.

NEWS NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Reid Litchfield and Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Price of Picture Butte, formerly of Raymond, left this week for the June Conference, and while in Utah will attend the services in Maanti, commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of the dedication of the Manti temple.

Eldon Peterson, son of N. W. Peterson of Welling is spending a month's holiday with his father and family from his studies and duties in the Royal Air Force. He is stationed at an armament depot, and has a semi-weekly flight amongst his other duties. He enjoys his work very well, especially the flying part of it.

A large number of Raymond people were Lethbridge visitors Thursday, many of them attending the Al. G. Barnes circus which was showing there, and many of them just visiting the city taking advantage of the holiday which Raymond observed while the stores and schools of Lethbridge remained opened.

Defalcations of the Alberta Government since '35 on bonds, bond interest and saving certificates, now total nearly $25,000,000. The secretary of the Provincial Treasurer's Department, Mr. Woodman, explains that the default of June 1st of two million dollars on a telephone debt was merely technical, arrangements not having been made as yet for its payment.

Guy Wing returned last week end from his winter's studies in the University of Utah at Salt Lake City. On Thursday in company with his parents he was at the Temple in Cardston, and will be leaving soon for missionary work in the Swiss-Austrian mission. Congratulations Guy, and our best wishes.

Gerald J. Gibb was the guest speaker at Rotary on Monday, when he took as his subject "New Zealand, her people, their habits, the animal and vegetable life of the island dominion and the climate." With the articles he brought home from the island, a group of pictures and his intimate acquaintance with his subject, Gerry gave the Rotas a fine talk.
